

Garments classified as 'GREEN COTTON' are processed locally in New Zealand to certain rigid standards as follows:

- no toxic substances are used in the fabric manufacturing operations
- fibres are GE free
- fabric processes do not release any harmful substances into the soil, waterway or atmosphere

Garments manufactured from 'Organic Cotton' have the following desirable attributes

- cotton plants are grown without the use of herbicides and pesticides
- fabric is processed as 'Green Cotton' standards above
- fabric is GE free

These garments are constructed from 100% bamboo fibres. The bamboo plant is a sustainable resource and can produce a range of very soft & desirable fabrics.
